Executive Summary

The Marketing and Communications program is responsible for internal and external communication strategy, maintaining the library's public image, brand, social media presence, and informational resources to connect the community to library resources, programs and collections. Marketing and Communications includes the library's in-house creative, marketing and communications teams. Together, they offer helpful, effective and compelling informational and promotional materials; engaging digital avenues to access; and public accountability for how the library uses public resources to serve its diverse community.

Program Summary

Marketing and Communications (Marcom) provides essential services to the library and the thousands of library users each day, either online or in person. This program creates lasting, meaningful relationships with the community; maintains an informative and engaging strategic online presence in social media and email marketing; oversees the library's brand and identity; develops strategies to promote library use; creates mechanisms to gather library user feedback and input; provides critical guidance and input into systemwide strategic decisions; provides clear, timely information to the public and the news media; coordinates the application and translation of information to distinct cultural and language communities; and communicates with library staff about the ongoing evolution of library services and resources.

Marcom uses the Opportunity Map and patterns of distribution/allocation of Knowledge, Skills and Abilities staff and culture and language-specific resources to engage communities of color and of culture in ways that are relevant -- through language, design and platform. Marcom partners with Knowledge, Skills and Abilities staff to understand and respond to specific community needs and connect people with library services and resources.
