Executive Summary

Many individuals who commit property crimes are also addicted to alcohol or drugs. In an attempt to decrease additional felony convictions and hold people accountable both the State Department of Corrections and the Oregon Criminal Justice Commission invested monies into comprehensive programming for this population. The funding agencies conduct evaluations of each program and report back to the legislature on the results.

Program Summary

DCJ has redesigned its Measure 57 program to focus on opioid-dependent offenders to address the increase in number of offenders, and the difficulty in successfully treating these individuals. A close partnership with a qualified community-based program enhances our ability to safely manage these offenders while reducing overdose deaths and criminal recidivism.

CODA is a non-profit provider offering outpatient, residential, and medically assisted treatment options. This agency has particular expertise in treating opioid dependence and in providing services to those in the criminal justice system. A CODA counselor is housed at DCJ's Assessment and Referral Center (ARC), working closely with intake staff to assess treatment needs, make referrals, support treatment engagement, and participate in multi-disciplinary team case management.

The Success Through Accountability, Restitution, and Treatment (START) court is also funded from Measure57. It is multidisciplinary in nature, and money is shared by multiple stakeholders. The START program is selective, and provides wraparound services including treatment, supervision, and transition planning, and mentorship. It uses evidence-based practices in collaboration with the Courts, MCSO, defense attorneys, the DA, Volunteers of America, and DCJ. This program contracts for up to 165 active participants.
