

ADVSD TRAINING SPRING 2017

Multnomah County Defines Sustainability: “Focus on the long-term environmental and economic well being of the community.”

A focus on long-term environmental and economic well being of our community is what we mean by using the term Sustainability in our solicitations. To achieve sustainability we have adopted the Triple Bottom Line because it brings in considerations that have positive impacts and assist us in achieving sustainability.

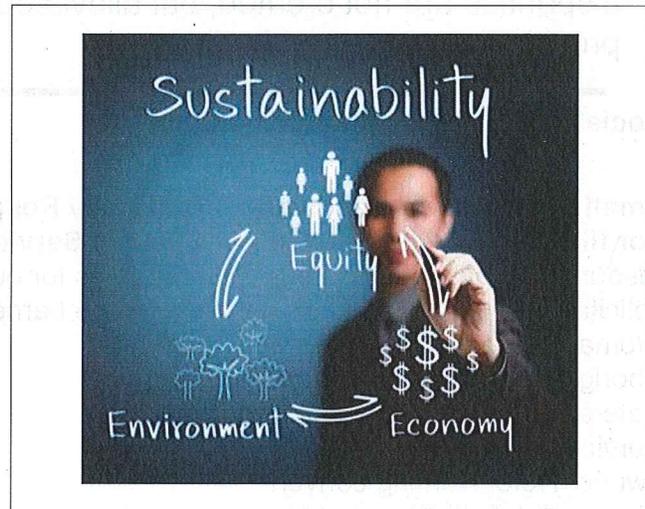

The Triple Bottom Line is three impact areas that with planning work together for maximum positive benefits.

We spell out the impact areas based on the good or service provided in each solicitation. Over time each impact area works together, but a good start is to define each area and the value they have in scoring each solicitation.

Environmental Impacts= 10% total points

Social Equity Impacts= 10% total points

Economic Impacts= 5%

To achieve sustainability we focus on three impact areas.

Integrating Sustainability into our process means we may ask questions that concern your business operations or the delivery of service.

Environmental Impacts: Products or services that “have a lesser or reduced effect on human health and the environment when compared with competing products or services that serve the same purpose.” This comparison may consider raw materials acquisition, production, manufacturing, packaging, distribution, reuse, operation, maintenance or disposal of the product or service.

Our solicitations focus on five environmental consideration areas which are;

- toxic reduction;
- water conservation;
- waste and reduction management;
- energy conservation and;
- environmental considerations for the purchase and serving of food.
